Board denies demands of students in Romulus

By KAY DeBORD
Of The Roman Staff

Students at Romulus High School will continue to be restricted to campus during the free time and no designated smoking areas will be set up at the school. The Romulus Board of Education turned down proposals made by student representatives at a special meeting Monday.

The meeting, the second between the board and student council, wound up as a frustrating experience for the students, according to one spokesman. The board gave in on a number of minor issues but continued to stand by its policy on the major ones.

The student proposal for an open campus was denied by the board on the grounds that it was following a policy set up with the "overwhelming approval" of a majority of parents. The board also cited the area of school district liability in case of accident and the difficulty of controlling traffic in and out of the school.

UNDER THE PRESENT procedure students may go home for lunch during the 40-minute break if written permission is granted by a parent or guardian.

The board's decision was greeted with boos and catcalls by the disgruntled students in the audience.

The same audience reaction came when the board denied a proposal to set up a smoking lounge, citing state law as the main reason for the denial.

"When the state law is changed (regarding minors smoking), we can take another look at the situation," said Daine Boger board president.

A STUDENT representative said the Wayne County Sheriff's Department and a district court judge said there has been no instances of arrests due to minors smoking.

Also denied by the board was a student proposal that they and the teachers have more say in the distribution of funds for the high school and with curriculum changes.

Mrs. Boger said the allocation of funds is the responsibility of the board, and suggested that perhaps Romulus High School Principal Joel Karr and department heads work more closely together on the areas of need in the budget.

In addition she added that changes in curriculum, such as mini-history classes and vocational education programs, have been done at the request of the teachers.

ANOTHER BOARD decision, unpopular with the students and some parents present, was to continue to charge student groups for security guards and custodial pay for profit-making ventures held during weekends or times when the school wasn't in regular use. The board suggested that the students plan their programs during the week.

The board approved a proposal for a student lounge, designating the school cafeteria for that use until other arrangements can be made.

It also did away with "blue and pink" slips for absences. With board approval written notes from home will be accepted as absence excuses.

"Too many loopholes" was the reason given by the board for turning down a new system

'I think these young people completely were ignored after they had made the effort.'

for school hall passes. It couldn't agree on any counter-proposals to present to the students, so the present policy would be followed with further recommendations to be considered by board members at another time.

THE SETTING up of study halls for students during class hours was also considered and turned down by the board. Cost of supervision and the difficulty in scheduling were the reasons given by the board. However, the board said it was receptive to the idea and would consider it for the 1974-75 school year.

A student proposal that the physical education grades be replaced with a pass-fail system was agreed to by the board, which went even further and instituted a student option of choosing the pass-fail system or letter grading. The board also said that effective the forthcoming semester, showers after gym would not be mandatory.

During parts of the meeting, the audience proved disruptive and a punitive move to adjourn was called for by the board, however, the action was reconsidered and the meeting continued in orderly fashion.

At the conclusion of the session, a number of parents present indicated their displeasure with the attitude taken by the board.

TO PROTECT THE CHILDREN—Mrs. Irene Sellars (left) and Mrs. Anna Worth consider signing a petition offered by Romulus City Councilman Lngg Coleman and Mrs. LaVarne McGee to request street lighting along Beverly and Henry Ruff roads in Romulus to help drive criminals from what has been called "the dumping ground" in the city. One of the reasons Coleman wants to garner signatures for his petition campaign for the street lighting is children, such as Liza Pooley, who is in the arms of her grandmother, Coleman initiated the petition last week at the regular city council meeting. The city administration is working with Wayne County to gain county approval of a lighting agreement.—Romulus Roman photo.

Reorganization starts with hiring

The proposed reorganization of Romulus' Department of Public Works (DPW) has begun. Mayor Terry L. Troutt hired two men to head two divisions of the DPW.

Hired were Robert Plank Jr., and James Radford. Both will be paid $12,600 per year. PLANK WILL become the head of the DPW's new "maintenance division" which will be in charge of maintaining and keeping up all city property.

Radford will become the head of the DPW's new "roads division" which will be in charge of repairing and maintaining the city's roads. They will report to David Pauls, who has been retained as the acting department head.

"Both men have the qualifications I needed to head the divisions in the DPW," Troutt said. "Plank has been a general contractor, and knows about maintaining the buildings and grounds in the city."

"RADFORD HAS been a heavy equipment operator and a millwright, so he has the background needed for street maintenance and repair."

Troutt said he still is seeking a man to head the DPW's "water and sewer division" which will construct and maintain the water and sewer lines in the city.

"At present, Pauls will be director, and will head the third division," Troutt said.

Troutt said he anticipated some sensitivity on the part of some segments of the population with the appointments of Plank and Radford, because both worked in his successful campaign for mayor.

"I CAN TELL you that neither of these men were promised a job during the campaign," the mayor said. "Neither asked for a job until after the election."

"I wasn't aware that either wanted to work with the city until they requested the job, and I think Romulus is fortunate to have two such qualified men to pick from for the work which must be done."

County proposes plan to up taxes, protection

Local officials, strapped for funds for police protection but afraid to ask for more millage, may have been taken off the hook by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners. Board Chairman, Robert FitzPatrick, announced last week that he would promote a 10-year one-mill tax increase to "wage a $135 million war against crime in this county."

FitzPatrick made his announcement after being elected to an unprecedented fourth consecutive term as the Board of Commission Chairman. He said that he will promote the passage of a one-mill county tax increase in April to raise $13.5 million yearly—a total of $135 million during the term of the millage—to finance county and local crime fighting operations.

Under FitzPatrick's plan, Romulus stands to receive $121,000 in return from the county under a one-mill tax increase. At the same time, Belleville would receive $10,000, while Huron Township would receive $32,000, Sumpster Township would receive $29,000 and Van Buren Township would receive $68,000.

Funds earned through the tax would be distributed on a 80-20 basis between the county and the cities on a "fair share formula," which would see the communities receiving a "no strings" county grant for law enforcement on a population

Coordinator for city tries to boost growth

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

Romulus has the potential to grow. It's just that no one tried to tap that potential in the past, according to the city's newly hired industrial coordinator-planner. John Chihan thinks he has the formula which will boost Romulus' growth, and its tax base to the promise it has had since incorporated in 1970.

"We need sounder planning in this community to reach the potential that the fine roads, city services and railroad system in the community give us," said the 39-year-old Chihan.

"One of my first jobs will be to draw up a new comprehensive plan for the community, which will not only guide the planning commission in charting growth, but also will serve as a basis to sell the community," he added.

ALTHOUGH CHIHAN admits that industrial growth benefits the community the most in the pocket-book, he's eyeing a total approach to development for Romulus.

"When you talk of industry, you also must consider providing services for that industry," he said. "I know of one firm which moved from downtown Detroit to northern Southfield because of that city's attractiveness."

Chihan has been looking at the "total picture" in planning for the past 13 years as a consultant on the staff of Parkins and Rogers Associates, the city's former planning consultants.

Domestic woes reduce U.S. prestige abroad

Enemies and critics interpret difficulties as weakness

President Nixon is extricating his record and the office of the presidency from the entrapment of cynicism and negativism that have splintered the nation and mocked its institutions.

And at the same time America's domestic travail has resulted in a fresh reduction in international prestige, a forced dealing from a condition that is misunderstood as weakness by the nation's enemies and critics.

The standing among nations of the United States was never higher than the day of the official Japanese surrender on the deck of the U.S.S. Missouri after World War II. It has been declining since then and has plummeted over the past year as the view from abroad has been of a people who have lost faith in its institutions.

THE FOREIGN TRADE bill is at the center of the delicate relationship between the United States and Russia, the key to the future of detente.

Another challenge is the resumption of the flow of oil from Saudi Arabia. As a result of the shutoff by King Faisal, other nations, except for the Netherlands and Portugal, are moving toward an Arab accommodation to keep their cutbacks at five per cent.

It is difficult for the leaders of the world's large and small powers to understand the American political system. Under such circumstances of political siege, other governments would either have been toppled and new leaders installed or the troubled regime would have been supported. In any case, the uncertainty would have been cleared up quickly.

The problem of international troubles thus rests in part with the conduct of the American political system and its contributions to the decline of the country's standing abroad.

PRESIDENT NIXON'S foreign policy apparatus (notably Secretary of State Henry Kissinger) has many more pluses than minuses, a triumph over the confusion and caterwauling of Watergate. China has been opened up to American trade missions and the relationship with Russia is better than it has been since the days of the czars.

There remains an almost moot question about the opening of diplomatic relations at the ambassador rank with China. It is moot because many of the same functions are being performed by the larger-than-usual missions. This buys time for dealing with Chiang Kai Shek and the decision is whether to make it or allow the issue to wither and solve itself.

The problem of Arabian oil already has cut into the operations of the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean, and threatens the maintenance of United States forces in other parts of the world.

But the knottiest part of the problem is the Middle East. The United States always has helped Israel and, in its latest war with the Arabs, supplied its forces with new and replacement equipment some estimate as high as $3.2 billion.

IT IS A PLAIN VIEW from Middle America that anti-Nixon and anti-administration elements in the Eastern Media Establishment have brought the United States into peril both at home and in the international arena.

Now in the opinion of this newspaper, the people must demand more of their political leaders at all levels to meet the crises of the time. Watergate can not be condoned, but neither can it be allowed to lead to the destruction of our national purpose.

The real crises are the leadership of our political system, the energy shortage which threatens disaster, the stature of government at home and of the United States in the rest of the world.

And superimposed over all of them is the crisis of what the people perceive them to be—the fact of the condition or the version filtered through a prism of negativism by a small but powerful group of newspaper and television companies.

THE PEOPLE MUST look beyond the self-

Finds independent living

Huron housewife heeds fuel plea

One Huron Township housewife has been stirred by President Nixon's plea to return to an independent way of living.

Mrs. Lois Wheeler, a housewife and working mother, has been giving some serious thought about the nation's economy.

"To heat our homes, we must rely on a coal miner, a railroad, a supplier and numbers of middlemen before we actually can use a product," she said. "It's like that in just about everything we do." Although Mrs. Wheeler's contribution was small in some respects, the recovering of her favorite chair, it gave her a certain amount of pride in her work.

GETTING STARTED was the hardest task, she said, but the job was made easier by an estimate of more than $200 for the recovering by a commercial upholsterer.

"We just couldn't afford that kind of money," she said. "So I got a chart on materials; figured out what I would need and proceeded with about a $20 investment."

The $20 was increased to $30 when the Wheeler's decided that they needed a commercial stapler to do an efficient job.

Mrs. Wheeler followed the pattern of the old chair and did her own cutting and sewing. Her husband, Ron, added his talents by sanding and refinishing the wooden arms and spindles.

SHE HAS always done a good deal of sewing for her family, making her own draperies and some clothing for her children.

The Wheelers also built their own home, a tri-level model, in 1965 with little outside help. "I couldn't even hit a nail with a hammer when we first started," Mrs. Wheeler admitted.

The Wheelers have a garden each year and with food prices it grew in size this year. Mrs. Wheeler cans many of the products from that garden, cutting the family food bill substantially.

Aliens must file addresses as required by federal law

With the advent of the new year, government officials are again asking alien residents in the state to report their addresses to the Michigan Immigration and Naturalization Service during January.

Cards, used in filing the address reports, are available at post offices and at the various Immigration and Naturalization Service throughout the state.

Parents or guardians of children under the age of 14 must submit reports for their young charges. Failure to comply with the reporting requirement could lead to serious penalties.

Armand J. Saturelli, director of the service's Detroit office, said that aliens, as well as employers, must not mistake the issuance of a Social Security card to an alien as an American work permit.

Only those aliens lawfully admitted into the United States for permanent residence (immigrants) and those aliens temporarily in the country (non-immigrants), who have received authorization to work are eligible for employment in this country.

Gas use requires foresight

The energy crises is becoming a source of concern to fire service organizations throughout the nation because of the potential fire safety hazards inherent in the misuse of fuels.

Recent requests for the excessive storage of gasoline and other fuels have been denied by some area fire prevention bureaus.

State and local regulations provide severe restrictions on the storage of flammable liquids.

They should never be stored in the home and not more than six gallons should be stored on any residential premises outside the home, such as a garage or shed.

Containers for such storage must be of the safety can type, painted red, with appropriate lettering identifying the contents.

Gasoline should never be carried in storage containers inside a motor vehicle. This represents a serious fire and explosion threat to occupants of the vehicle under any condition.

Employees 'haunt' city hall offices

A new industrial coordinator-planner, finance and purchasing department head and acting building department head—all of whom worked for the city in the past—have been hired.

Romulus Mayor Terry Troutt has named former Romulus Township Supervisor and Wayne County Commissioner Edmund Bizek Sr., as head of purchasing and finance. He also named a former city planning consultant, John Chihan, as the industrial coordinator-planner, and the former township engineer, Ed Orr, as the acting head of the building department.

Troutt announced that he is making Bizek the head of a new centralized purchasing set-up he is establishing in city hall at a pay of $12,500 per year.

"ED WAS THE treasurer

during my administration and is very capable of handling this new department," Troutt said. "His work alone with centralizing purchasing, and making sure that we purchase in quantities will create a savings which will pay for his salary."

Helen Gallien, who had been finance director in the former city administration, will become Bizek's assistant. She will retain her $11,605 per year salary.

Chihan, a former consultant to the city while working with the planning firm of Parkins and Rodgers, Associates, began working in Romulus in 1963.

He will be paid $16,500 per year.

STREET OF BARNs—A line of red barns has been set up in a "street" effect behind Romulus High School and they are awaiting buyers. Jaycees seeking outstanding men

The search is on for the five outstanding young men in Romulus.

The Romulus Jaycees are seeking five men who distinguished themselves in both community service and church work during the past year.

They also are looking for the outstanding young educator and farmer, who benefitted the community the most during 1973.

Applications for nominations must be in before Sunday.

Anyone interested in nominating young men for any of the awards should contact Von Glahn at 941-4320 or should write to him at 9455 Terry St., Romulus.

Huron officials discussing plans for municipal center

It likely will be three to five years before Huron Township's dream of a municipal center becomes a reality, but township officials already are putting that first foot forward on the project.

The township has made unofficial agreement with the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority (HCMA) on a land "swap", involving three land parcels within the township.

According to Mrs. Mary Lou Carey, Huron Township clerk, the HCMA plans to give the township eight acres near its center and 3½ acres on West Road near the planned exit of the I-275 freeway.

SHE SAID that the eight acres probably would be developed into recreational sites, particularly baseball diamonds, with the 3½ acre parcel as the civic center site.

The HCMA, in turn, would receive 11 acres of township-owned land adjacent to the Lower Huron Metropark. Mrs. Carey said finalization of the deal would be made at the end of the month or in early February.

"It's just a mutual agreement so far," she said.

"They've promised us the land, but we can't be certain if the deal will go through. We have something they want and they have land we would like."

The civic center planning is still in its infant stages, and as of yet an architect has not been hired, Mrs. Carey added.

"FOR ONE, we just don't have the money yet, and for another, we don't have any land," she said.

The center tentatively will include new police, fire, governmental and recreational facilities.

Coordinator eyes boost in Romulus development

He served as the city's planning consultant starting in 1963, but was later transferred.

AND, IT WAS though old contacts in the city that he got in line for the planning consultant's job.

"I knew several of the councilmen, and asked one for a letter of reference in my job-hunting," he said. "I guess they got the idea I was looking, so they told me the job was open in Romulus."

One faction of the city council negotiated a contract with Chihan last year, but the former Mayor balked at the $17,000 per year salary the councilmen wanted to offer Chihan.

He offered the former consultant a $13,500 per year salary—something the former mayor claimed was more in line with the salaries of other department heads in the government.

TROUTT AGREED to hire Chihan late in December after an intensive hunt for qualified men for the industrial coordinator-planner job he envisioned. And, Chihan accepted the $16,500 per year post early this week.

He said most of his time on the job has been getting acquainted with the system in Romulus and researching the available facilities in the city.

"I have a bit of a jump on anyone else, because I was here before," he said. "But things have changed since I was the city's consultant, so there are many new things to learn."

Although his role in city government eyes him as a "savior" for the city's floundering development, he makes no promises.

"SURE, I COULD promise the sky," he said, "but who does that serve. Some growth takes time, but there are certain types of growth which we can realize immediately such as small service facilities and some small industry."

state equalized value system.

"I would propose this 10-year, $13.5 million war against crime in an effort to combat rising crime rates not only in Detroit but also in the suburbs," said FitzPatrick.

He said the funds retained by the county, some $2.8 million yearly, would be used to bolster services through the Wayne County Prosecutor, improve the existing Wayne County Jail and the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, and promote the construction of an out-county jail facility.

The funds would be needed, according to FitzPatrick, to help defray the "loss" of some $5 million in federal law enforcement grants over the next three years.

"We need to continue these programs funded through the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration," FitzPatrick said, "and we need to upgrade the facilities at the county jail and to consider building more jail facilities in the out-county area."

In addition, the Board of Commissioners will have to address itself to present means of combating juvenile delinquency—methods which are antiquated and inadequate."

FitzPatrick's proposal also dangles a "carrot" before the eyes of all local voters.

Critics view U.S. problems as our national weakness serving distortions of this small segment of the media and make their judgements on the facts.

And the media must examine themselves to make certain that their focus of the crises does not—as it has in recent months and years—contribute to all of them.

And it is not just Richard M. Nixon who has been victimized by negativism, but America also, by the efforts to crucify one man for the deeds of other lesser men. He must remain in office to fulfill the mandate of the voters in 1972 and to preserve the integrity of the presidency.

The stalking of Nixon by the eastern establishment press and television in full cry has threatened the separation of powers doctrine by which the republic was founded.

The value of the effort, if indeed one can be found, was the confirmation of the Congress as the weakest and least decisive of the branches. Even with the presidency near paralysis in domestic affairs, the Congress failed to lead. The resultant emergence of the courts as controllers of the American destiny at home is frightening.

NO FORCE IN or out of government can reduce the record of President Nixon's international accomplishments. During his five years in office, the American involvement in the Vietnam war has been ended, Russia and China have been reopened to western diplomacy and the strength of the nation has been restated to the world.

The conclusion must be that Nixon's presidency is critical to the nation for the rest of his second term. The troubles of Watergate are behind us and the future is now.

Ed board denies demands of Romulus High students young adults completely were ignored after they had made the effort to institute changes in a proper way. The important issues were overlooked and the students were given ultimatums," said one parent, Joe Commerford, 28473 Oakdale Ct. He has one daughter, a senior, at the high school.

Mrs. Pearl Brown, 6291 Edmund, said: "I don't think the kids got a fair shake in this matter. No wonder they feel frustrated."

Several other parents disagreed with the board's decision on the smoking issue.

One said: "They're going to do it anyway, why encourage them to sneak and lie about it. Other schools have resolved the problems and allowed a smoking area why can't Romulus students have the same?"

ANOTHER PARENT, Mrs. Raymond Cokerwinski of 14147 Hannan, felt that charging the students for security and custodial help was out of line.

"After all, it's student activity and it should come out of school tax money," she said.

Student Council President Douglas Vaughn said the students would continue to seek ways to make the changes they felt were necessary and to work within the school structure on a number of the proposals they had presented.

In addition to Vaughn, the student council panel included

Court challenge is certain

ACLU attacks abortion 'conscience clause'

LANSING — Though the main question on abortion and its legality has been decided by the U.S. Supreme Court, related questions still are being raised in the Legislature.

The most recent action was the passage of a "conscience clause" bill to allow any hospital, clinic or other medical facility or anyone working in such a facility to refuse to participate in an abortion. Gov. William G. Milliken signed it into law.

IT WILL PROBABLY be challenged in the courts on the grounds it results in a denial of a type of legal medical care to some persons who might desire it. Among those who had asked Milliken to veto it was the Michigan Chapter of the American Civil Liberties

'...all women in Michigan will have reasonable access to appropriate facilities.'

Union, which objected to the exemption for medical facilities, not for individual medical persons.

The ACLU said 41 Michigan counties have either one or no hospitals, meaning a decision by a rural hospital not to perform abortions would force a woman wanting one to travel great distances if she were to receive one.

But Milliken said he was convinced, after a survey by the Public Health Department, that "all women in Michigan will have reasonable access to appropriate facilities."

"I HAVE BEEN advised that in areas where facilities are likely to deny abortions, there are facilities nearby that will provide them," he said. "Furthermore, state health authorities say that almost all abortions in the first trimester are likely to be performed in physicians' offices and clinics."

The Senate also has passed a bill which would set up some legal guidelines for abortions in Michigan. Since the U.S. Supreme Court issued its ruling last spring, Michigan has had no law on abortions, since the existing one was ruled unconstitutional.

The Senate passed the bill last May and it has been lodged in a House committee since then.

THE BILL WOULD establish minimum procedures and standards for abortions under the Supreme Court guidelines and would authorize the Department of Public Health to promulgate rules. The department already has the rules, as it drew them up in 1972 prior to the state vote on the subject, in case abortion would have passed and regulations had been needed then.

There has been some legislative grumbling as well about the fact persons receiving medicaid assistance can have abortions paid for under the medicaid program. Medicaid provides payment for medical services for poor people.

LAWMAKERS WHO DON'T like abortion also don't like the idea of the state helping to pay for them, but there has been no big move to try to change the situation. For one thing, since the Supreme Court has ruled that no law can be passed to prohibit abortions during the first three months of pregnancy, a law barring medicaid payments for them is viewed as being probably unconstitutional.

On a more practical basis, welfare officials say it is cheaper for the medicaid program to pay for an abortion, than to pay for a full term pregnancy and delivery.

Worth repeating

A Canadian speaks on America's virtues

(Editor's Note: In these days of unrelieved foreboding and gloomy news, all of us in this country could do with a little bucking up.

It isn't often that we get a chance to see ourselves as a neighbor sees us — and be cheered by the image.

Some time ago Gordon Sinclair, the Canadian radio and TV commentator, broadcast an editorial from Toronto. Any number of people in this country heard it or have since read it, as it has been widely reprinted in newspapers in the U.S. It was inserted in the "Congressional Record" and became the subject of many editorials.

Mr. Sinclair's commentary makes especially heartening reading right now. For the benefit of readers who have missed it, excerpts are presented here.)

By GORDON SINCLAIR

This Canadian thinks it is time to speak up for the Americans as the most generous and possibly the least appreciated people on all the earth.

Germany, Japan and, to a lesser extent, Britain and Italy were lifted out of the debris of war by the Americans who poured in billions of dollars and forgave other billions in debts. None of these countries is today paying even the interest on its remaining debts to the United States.

When the franc was in danger of collapsing in 1956, it was the Americans who propped it up, and their reward was to be insulted and swindled on the streets of Paris.

I was there. I saw it.

When distant cities are hit by earthquakes, it is the United States that hurries in to help. This spring, 59 American communities (were) flattened by tornadoes. Nobody helped.

The Marshall Plan and the Truman Policy pumped billions upon billions of dollars into discouraged countries. Now newspapers in those countries are writing about the decadent, warmongering Americans.

I'd like to see just one of those countries that is gloating over the erosion of the United States dollar, build its own airplanes.

Come on, let's hear it!

Does any other country in the world have a plane to equal the Boeing Jumbo Jet, the Lockheed Tristar or the Douglas 10?

If so, why don't they fly them? Why do all the international lines except Russia fly American planes?

Why does no other land on earth even consider putting a man or woman on the moon?

You talk about Japanese technocracy, and you get radios. You talk about German technocracy, and you get automobiles.

You talk about American technocracy, and you find men on the moon — not once but several times — and safely home again.

You talk about scandals, and the Americans put theirs right in the store window for everybody to look at.

Even their draft-dodgers are not pursued and hounded. They are here on our streets, and most of them — unless they are breaking Canadian laws — are getting American dollars from Ma and Pa at home to spend here.

When the railways of France, Germany and India were breaking down through age, it was the Americans who rebuilt them. When the Pennsylvania Railroad and the New York Central went broke, nobody loaned them an old caboose. Both are still broke.

I can name you 5,000 times when the Americans raced to the help of other people in trouble. Can you name me even one time when someone else raced to the Americans in trouble?

I don't think there was outside help even during the San Francisco earthquake.

Our neighbors have faced it alone, and I'm one Canadian who is damned tired of hearing them kicked around.

They will come out of this thing with their flag high. And when they do, they are entitled to thumb their noses at the lands that are gloating over their present troubles.

I hope Canada is not one of these.

The Watergate

Washington's newest tourist attraction is — of all things — an apartment house. It is a very special apartment house, guarded by a statue of Benito Juarez — of all people, Juarez might be considered a bit revolutionary for his setting, especially since the apartment is, or was, the bastion of many high-ranking Republicans in the present administration, and, ironically, the Democratic National Committee. The Vatican once owned a significant interest in the apartment, better known as (you guessed it), the Watergate.

More on Kohoutek

The Christmas star is a dazzling comet

You may find yourself calling the comet Kohoutek a "Shooting Star" as it glimmers across the January sky, but it is a far different phenomenon.

"A shooting star" is actually a meteor, a piece of metallic or stony matter that hurtles itself into the earth's atmosphere from outer space. Meteors come in many sizes ranging from a grain of sand to hundreds of tons. Unlike comets, a meteor can not be seen until it reaches the earth's atmosphere, researchers for World Book Encyclopedia point out.

Friction created as it speeds downward through the increasingly dense atmosphere heats the meteor to about 4000 degrees Fahrenheit. This intense heat causes it to burn with a brilliant light. Most meteors burn for just a few seconds. Those that burn longer are much larger and rarer.

COMETS LIKE KOHOOTEK, on the other hand, glow brilliantly for millions of years as they travel through space. Their glow is not caused by friction, however.

Comets roam the freezing regions of outer space, where the temperature is nearly absolute zero — minus 460 degrees. Because it is so cold, no chemical reactions occur and many scientists believe gases in the nucleus of the comet are trapped in a shell of frost. When a comet passes near the sun these gases begin evaporating.

These gases spray outward, but according to some theories are quickly frozen into a tail of vaporized ices. As the sun's ultraviolet rays strike the gas molecules, they begin to glow. Dust particles swept along by the gases add to the tail's brightness by reflecting sunlight. As the comet moves closer to the sun, more gases evaporate and the tail grows larger. In the case of Kohoutek, the brilliant tail is millions of miles long.

Traveling along their egg-shaped orbits around the sun, the comets gradually wear down until little more than some dust and debris collected along the way remain. Some of these particles fall into the earth's atmosphere and become "shooting stars."

In fact, according to the World Book people, scientists estimate that as many as 70 million visible meteors enter the earth's atmosphere every day.

IN ITS PRESENT FORM, Kohoutek, the Christmas Star" of 1973 is harmless to the people of the earth. At its closest point, it will be some 75 million miles away.

Rips double salaries

To the Editor: Why must I always pay?

When Mayor Troutt can manipulate Council within the City Charter to appoint new personnel as department head people, and still retain old administration heads to take any possible future criticism within their departments, they are more glibly than I.

Helen Gallien, Finance Director is to become Assistant Finance Director; and, a new appointee, Troutt's buddy, Edmund Bizek, Sr., is to head the Finance Department.

A similar procedural error is to occur in the Department of Public Works. The title of Industrial Coordinator is to be changed to City Planner; John Sheehan is to take this appointment.

Why cannot the resignations of these old administration department heads be accepted and the new administration be totally responsible for the success or failure of our Mayor's appointments?

I resent paying two salaries when one can do the job. I resent paying $20,000 per year in these departments when $10,000 will do.

But why must I always pay?

What concessions!

To the Editor: Just recently Richard M. Nixon was applauded because he demonstrated how he can make concessions by flying on a commercial airplane instead of Air Force One.

But how does this compare with the concessions the working people are forced to make with their income tax, fuel rationing and shortages?

Read 'The Flight'

To the Editor: A statement in your editorial of Dec. 27, "Ben McNally shows how to win election," has recently come to my attention.

You said that the "Overground" is the student newspaper at Romulus High School. I would like to point out that it is not the official student newspaper.

Overground may be the result of student efforts, but it is not the official student newspaper. It is what you might label as underground. The school's official student newspaper is "Flight."

Although I'm sure that your oversight was not intentional, I felt it should be corrected.

Editor's Note — Sorry for the identification error. At the same time, glad to hear from a fellow journalist who practices the Fourth Estate credo that accuracy is essential to the credibility of the profession.

As we see it

The tax 'spenders' must hold the line

County Board Chairman Robert FitzPatrick's proposed war against crime deserves merit, but that's about all we can say at this time.

The county chief suggests the taxpayers of Wayne County vote themselves a 10-year, one-mill tax to start a "$13.5 million war against crime."

FitzPatrick's call to place the crime-tax proposal on the April ballot came after being elected to his fourth term as county board chairman — and for the sake of a fiery "acceptance speech," we get the tax package.

In essence, if you oppose the crime-tax you're not joining the call to cut crime in the central city and the county's western suburbs.

As a lure to the suburbs, FitzPatrick suggests that a major chunk of tax-gear revenues be earmarked for suburban coffers.

Everyone agrees that crime must be halted, and no one opposes the need to update present penal institution conditions in the county — but to suggest a 10-year one mill tax in this critical period of sky-rocketing prices, unemployment, and stifling taxes...was in error.

According to FitzPatrick's "share plan," Detroit would get about 20 percent of total revenues raised; while the suburbs would divvy up the remaining 80 percent.

On the surface the plan sounds great, and that's where it ends. Two weeks ago we reported that Wayne County General Hospital was stuck with "thousands" of uncollectable bills...which means county tax payers get stuck again.

Last week Uncle Sam dipped a little deeper into the salaries of wage earners to pay for social security increases, with another still to come later this year.

Then we hear of a political game going on in Lansing (this is a state election year) between the Democrats and Gov. William Milliken.

The Democrats want to eliminate the food sales tax (it'll be tacked onto your state income tax); and the Republican governor will propose a special food and drug sales tax break for below middle income workers...just in time for election votes.

In every proposal, someone has to pick up the tab in some other column on the shrinking weekly paycheck, and the old dollar bill can't take much more.

What our politicians fail to tell in their "report to the people" newsletters is that for every good social legislation they support, someone has to pay...usually the middle-class working suburbanite.

Until the nation's economy picks up, and prices get back down to where they belong — we suggest Mr. FitzPatrick divert his energies into some other area for the good of the county...and in an area where it won't necessitate increased tax dollars.

And the next time a politician says: "I voted to give you better services," ask the spender: "What did you do with my taxes...?"

A classic example of governmental game-playing was the recent social security hike pushed through Congress. While the Congress says social security taxes must go up to pay for their offering to the elderly; they again exempted themselves, their employees and all federal employees.

It seems the government has a better retirement plan for the army of federal employees; but when it comes to social security, they proclaim: "We did it to help our senior citizens."

If you have any doubts about the shrinking weekly paycheck, take a closer look at the deductions column — it's appalling.

Woe the middle-class working American. He pays, and pays and pays on promises.

Senate seeks God's guidance

By TOM OCHILTREE
Washington Bureau Chief

WASHINGTON — Seeking God's guidance, the Senate has designated April 30 as a National Day of Prayer to chart anew America's moral course.

This unusual display of moral awareness was done by voice vote with no debate or opposition only moments after a resolution on the subject was introduced by Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore.

The resolution referred to "A National Day for Humility, Fasting and Prayer." It called for an attitude of humility and repentance. The word "humiliation" was used in that context.

The resolution was modeled after a declaration issued by Abraham Lincoln on April 30, 1863 after the bitter and bloody Union defeat at Fredericksburg and before the tide of the Civil War began to turn at Gettysburg.

Hatfield, a man of deep religious convictions, is a former college professor and an authority on American history, particularly the history of our various presidents.

In his speech introducing the resolution, Hatfield did not seek to fix blame on any one person or on any one segment of our society. There was no mention of Watergate by name.

'Our nation has once again been torn apart by a crisis...'

Instead, Hatfield stressed that as citizens of this great republic it was the duty of us all to admit that we stand under God's judgment and in need of his forgiveness.

"Today," he said, "Our nation has once again been torn apart by a crisis from which there appears little relief. Our refusal to acknowledge our dependence and need for a power beyond ourselves has severely damaged our national soul."

"I believe that only a national confession of corporate guilt can save us from the worship of our own finite power and the tragedies that this worship creates..."

"It is my firm conviction that a genuine spirit of repentance, infecting the climate of our nation at all levels, can heal the wounds that presently affect us."

"Reconciliation of the divisions and animosities that exist among our people can occur once there is mutual acknowledgement of this need for contrition, which allows human compassions to grow."

'Not long ago they were yelling GET OFF THE ROAD...!'

P.N. degree earned at Marinette Hospital

By Pearl Morris
941-1187

Jeanette Glaab of Romulus graduated December 21 from the Practical Nursing Course at Northern Michigan University, Marquette. Her affiliation was with Marinette General Hospital in Marinette, Wisconsin. Jeanette is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Glaab of Goddard Road.

MRS. FLORENCE Field of Ann Arbor, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Egger of Bardonia, Kentucky and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Frisbie of Clio, were New Year's Day callers of Mrs. Gertrude Burkus and Mrs. Les Taylor, both of Huron River Drive West.

HER SON, Donald Shick of Inkster, and a cousin, Mr. Clyde Fry of Grand Rapids, Ohio, spent a few days Christmas week with Mrs. Pearl Shick on Perry Street. Other visitors over the holidays were Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Levey of Dundee, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Akans and Neil Jr. and Kimberly, of Carleton; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fry and daughter, Nancy, of Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hell and son, Travis, Mr. and Mrs. Jack McTaggart of Westland, Mrs. Ed Grotowski of Romulus, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bevard and daughters, Angela and Misty, of Belleville, and Mrs. Ray Fry of Wayne.

WALTER SKIFF of Ft. Meyers, Florida, is here visiting his mother, Mrs. Dora Skiff of Perry Street, and other relatives.

MR. AND MRS. Fred W. Hay and daughter, Carla, and Miss Pearl Morris, all of Huron River Drive South, are back home after an 11-day holiday vacation. They also visited two uncles and families, the Harold Morrises in Bradenton, Florida, and the Willard Morrises, in Nokesville, Virginia.

NEW OFFICERS for 1974 were recently elected by the U.M.W. of the Community United Methodist Church. They are: President, Pat Taylor; Vice President, Jo Rehkopf; Secretary, Barbara Wahrmann; Treasurer, Nell Sheppard; Secretary of Christian Social Relations, Connie Morris; Secretary of Membership Cultivation, Aline Herald and Joy Lamberson; Secretary of Spiritual Life, Myrtle Rehkopf; Chairman of Local Church Activities, Mary Oakley and Betty Holland; Commission on Nominations, Jo Rehkopf. JACK SHICK of Romaine Street was host to the following at a Christmas Eve gathering: his son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gene Shick and son, Rodney, of Romulus; brother, Donald Shick of Inkster; Mrs. Ann Chikowitz of Wayne Road and Mrs. Virginia Alsop of Inkster.

DEBBIE WAHRMAN of Wahrmann Road flew to Bradenton, Florida the day after Christmas to spend an eight-day vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Ward Green. Her brother, David Green, who works for Eastern Airlines at Miami, Florida, also visited at the Green home for a day. The Ward Greens are his grandparents.

MATTHEW STEWART Beebe, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Beebe of Brandt Road, was baptized Sunday, December 16, at the Community United Methodist Church in Romulus with the Rev. Hal Ferris officiating. The baby was born November 3, 1973.

MR. AND MRS. Clyde Laine are back home on Grant Road after a two and a half weeks holiday vacation at Ft. Lauderdale, Florida.

'Women in Business' directory available

The first published in any city, the "1973-74 Directory of Women in Business" is now available at most larger bookstores throughout the Detroit Metropolitan Area which it covers.

Containing several hundred listings, it serves as a "yellow pages" of businesswomen in the professions, education, industry, science and the arts. An even hundred headings are used to categorize the women through a full range of activity from "Advertising Agencies & Counselors" through "Youth Organizations," no one with a "Z" occupation having yet appeared.

Many headings correspond to those used in most telephone classified directories, but some new ones had to be invented—"Consumer Resources," "Economic Consultants," and "Nail Technicians" are examples.

With no "women's lib" emphasis, the book list both part and full time occupations of women doing business under their own names or their own firm names, as well as large businesses employing women in responsible, decision-making positions whom the public often needs to reach, such as in "Banks" and "Automobile Dealers."

"THE MARKET for the Directory is chiefly other women. It has not been simple (the non-profit project took nearly 2 years) to find women who should be listed, so we know the public could not find them either.

"Many companies have called us in their search for women to be employed under Revised Federal Order 4 upgrading plans. Therefore, we are convinced few, if any, lists of skilled women exist anywhere," said publisher Peg Smith.

"The Directory of Women in Business" sells in the stores for $1. If it is not on hand at bookstores or newsstands, dealers can order from their wholesaler for delivery within a few days.

Information on the next edition of this annual publication, as well as copies of the book at $1.25, including postage and handling, may be obtained directly from the publisher, "Directory of Women in Business," 764 Channing, Ferndale, Mich. 48220.

MR. AND MRS. RAYMOND C. HAGEN

Double ring ceremony unites Hagen-Merritt

Carole Ann Merritt of Belleville and Raymond C. Hagen of Ann Arbor exchanged double ring vows December 8 at the First United Methodist Church of Belleville. The Rev. Joy Arthur presided at the seven o'clock ceremony before some 125 assembled guests.

Organ music for the occasion included "The Twelfth of Never" and "Theme from Love Story."

The bride, who was escorted to the altar by her father, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Gerald C. Merritt of 50050 Bog Road, Belleville. For her wedding day she selected a traditional white gown of boucle double knit accented with a 10-inch flounce at the hem of the toe-touching skirt. The high-rise bodice was traced with white satin with the seed pearl Victorian collar taken from her mother's wedding gown worn 28 years ago in Caserta, Italy. The slightly-full long sleeves were banded in white fur to match the Camelot cap which secured her cathedral-length illusion veil.

Completing her bridal finery was an arrangement of red roses, green ivy and white velvet streamers on a white lace Bible. She also carried a white crocheted handkerchief belonging to her grandmother.

CHERYL WAGNER of Belleville was chosen to be maid of honor with a cousin from Britton, Nancy Pilbeam, serving as bridesmaid. Identically dressed, their red velvet frocks were patterned along the same lines as the bridal gown. Each carried a white rabbit fur muff with an arrangement of red and pink carnations and red velvet ribbon attached. In their hair they wore pink miniature carnations and baby's breath.

The bridegroom, son of Donald Hagen of 3424 Platt Road, Ann Arbor, and the late Loretta Hagen, asked Doug Morningstar of Ann Arbor to be best man. Groomsmen included Hal Morningstar of Ann Arbor and the bride's two brothers, Keith Merritt of Romulus and Mark Merritt of Belleville.

Mrs. Merritt chose for her daughter's wedding a long fuchsia gown accessorized in silver. The bridegroom's sister-in-law, Mrs. Donald Hagen, donned a long maroon gown and harmonizing accessories. Both were honored with corsages of white roses and stephanotis tied with white velvet ribbon.

IN KEEPING with the holiday color scheme of the wedding, the UAW Hall, Local 1776, Ypsilanti, was decorated in red and white. The four-tiered wedding cake, made by a long-time family friend Mrs. Carl Burton, was accented with fresh pink carnations and red rosebuds topped with a silver cross. Flanking the cake were hurricane lamps holding lighted red candles with pink carnations and ivy leaves surrounding the bases.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Hagen, graduates of Huron High and Belleville High, respectively, are making their home at 4834 Lake Ridge, Apt. 2-A, Ypsilanti. Carole is employed in the Building Department at Van Buren Township Hall and her husband, who completed his stint with the U.S. Army in July of 1973, is a student at Washtenaw Community College where he is studying law enforcement.

The bridegroom's father entertained at the rehearsal dinner with tables being reserved at Belleville's Woodstone Inn.

EARLY DEADLINES over the recent holidays cut much of the reporting on festivities to a minimum. Therefore, we're doing sort of a "round-up" of 1973's final days in this first column of the New Year — a new year which, I'm sure we all hope, is a bit more encouraging and filled with more trust, love and mutual respect.

Relatives attend Trenton open house

THE OPEN HOUSE invitations sent out by former Belleville Dick Sietz and his wife, Grace, were answered by some 33 relatives and friends. The party on the 30th brought together both sides of Dick's family. A "first" at the holiday season, the five o'clock gala at the couple's Trenton home found a number from Belleville including the Joseph Sietzs, the Henry Sietzs, Bill and Mary Ann Emerson and their little son, Billie; Justy and Marge Emerson and their houseguests, Captain and Mrs. Sam Emerson and their two youngsters, Matthew and Sarah, from Manhattan, Kansas; the Bill Hedges and the Bert Smiths.

Guests from Dexter — the Eddie Lipinskis, Jim Lipinski, the Dave Kelsey family and the Jack Wiskas — traveled together en masse in the Wiskas' mobile bus. Others from that area were the Stanley Sietzs and from Ann Arbor, the Ed Hedges.

Allyn clan united during holidays

THE ALLYN CLAN held their Christmas get-together on the 28th so that out-of-staters, Larry and Norma McClure and children, Wendy and Mark, could have their own tree festivities in Charlottesville, Virginia before flying northward.

Roger and Aileen Allyn played host at this year's gatherings since they added a large new family room to their home this fall. Bringing their favorite dishes for the co-op supper at seven o'clock and enjoying the evening the Allyns had planned were his parents, the Franklin Allyns of Detroit (who stayed for the holidays this year and THEN left for their winter quarters in Florida); Tom and Bethann Swan and Daughter, Casey, from Dearborn Heights; Rodney and Carol Allyn and sons, Jeff and Brad, from Adrian; and Mrs. Cora Shadford from Bloomfield Hills.

Flat Rock couple host get-together

ON SUNDAY, December 23, a pre-Christmas reunion of the Bennetts family took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Bennetts of Flat Rock. Relatives from distant locales were together for a festive and enjoyable day.

Arriving from Roseville were the Ralph Staleys; from Clawson the "Chip" Clissolds and their three sons; and from Detroit the Ernest Bennetts family with son Mickey, his wife Barb, and their two sons and daughter. Representing Belleville at the party were the Donald Dempseys of Denton Road.

Brunch on clan's holiday calendar

THE TRESCHS — Tim and Sue of Romulus — played host at a between-the-holidays brunch Sunday, December 30. The eleven o'clock invitation went out to members of Tim's family (Sue's all being in up-state New York) with his parents, the Gordon Treschs of Birmingham heading the list. Mike and Kathy Gallagher traveled from Flint and weekend with the host couple while Ben and Gayle Ford and their twins, David and Dawn, came from Oxford.

Also included were Tim's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Heath from Pontiac, and two of their married sons, Mike and his wife, Patti, from Plymouth, and Brad and his wife, Michelle, from Rochester.

Oakland students engagement told

The engagement of their daughter, Gail Frances, to Harlan Zable Davis is announced by Mr. and Mrs. John J. Freysinger of 45275 Sunrise Lane, Belleville.

The bride-elect and her fiancé are both attending Oakland University at Rochester where they are majoring in music. Miss Freysinger is a graduate of Belleville High School and Mr. Davis a Trenton High alumnus.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Sanford Davis of 1767 N. Trenton Drive, Trenton.

As yet no date has been set for the wedding.

MISS FREYSINGER

WMU diplomas earned by three BHS grads

Three Belleville residents were among 1,200 students to receive diplomas in commencement exercises at Western Michigan University recently.

The retiring university president, Dr. James W. Miller, presided over the December exercises.

Those receiving diplomas were: Linda L. Krystyniak and Teresa A. Bies, bachelor of science degrees; and Barbara L. Diedrich, a bachelor of arts degree.

Peeler is must

A swivel-blade vegetable peeler is a "must" in a well-out-fitted kitchen. It's sharp and speedy, removing paper-thin parings from vegetables and fruit so there is no waste.

Vitiello-Darlington vows are solemnized

Christmas trees and an illuminated angel along with poinsettia plants and a creche set the holiday mood for the December 28 wedding of Cheryl Lynn Darlington and Michel Vitiello. Holy Family Church in Detroit was reserved for the six o'clock rite read by the Rev. Noel Pataconi.

Some 100 relatives and friends witnessed the double ring vows which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Darlington of 975 Sumpter Road, Belleville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicola Vitiello of 12603 Waltham, Detroit.

Entering the church with her father, Cheryl appeared in a gown of sata peau designed in the empire mode with re-embroidered Alencon lace and Brussels embroidery forming the pearled tucked illusion yoke and high neckline. The lace motif was repeated on the full bishop sleeves, cuffs and attached chapel train.

Her mantilla veil of silk illusion with matching lace trim extended the length of the train with a colonial bouquet of white roses, pink sweetheart roses and baby's breath completing her bridal ensemble.

MATRON OF HONOR was the bridegroom's cousin from Detroit, Mrs. Louis Faletta. Her full-skirted gown was fashioned of burgundy flocked satin in a floral pattern with a shirred bodice ruffled around the neck and sleeves. A wide-brimmed picture hat encircled with burgundy velvet ribbon and a nosegay of pink carnations, white mums and red roses complimented her frock.

The quintet of bridesmaids in identical outfits included Solange Miraula from Montreal, Quebec; Mrs. Dale Greene of Oxford; Lydia Vitiello of Detroit; and Antoinette Vitiello and Carol Vitiello of East Detroit, all cousins of the bridegroom.

Another cousin, Michel Vitiello of Detroit, was asked to serve as best man. Others on the esquire side were Ronald Gruner and Gary Corbin of Detroit; Salvatore Lazzari of Warren; Glenn Valentine from Fraser; and Kurt Darlington of Warren, the bride's brother.

At the reception, which followed at Revere Hall in St. Clair Shores, the 300 guests were greeted by Mrs. Darlington in a peacock blue crepe gown trimmed with matching velvet. The bridegroom's mother chose to wear a Nile green chiffon gown with a beaded bodice. Both were presented with corsages of yellow sweetheart roses.

THE NEWLYWEDS, who are making their home in Utica, later departed for a week-long honeymoon cruise in the Caribbean. For traveling the new Mrs. Vitiello changed to a long-sleeved floral print shirtwaist dress with harmonizing accessories.

Cheryl, who holds an associate degree from Macomb Community College, is currently attending Walsh College of Accounting and Business Administration. Her husband attended law school at the University of Paris; and studied psychology at Oakland University where he is presently working toward a master's degree in management sciences. Both he and his wife are employed in the administrative offices of Church's Lumber Yard in Utica.

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the bridegroom's parents, was held at their home in Detroit.

Looking back...

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

If you've ever gotten out 'last year's calendar' and looked back on the events of the past 365 days, you've found yourself surprised at how time really DOES wing its way right from under your nose.

In looking back at last January's issues we, too, were amazed that a whole year had transpired since we set certain items down in print. Picking out the social highlights of 1973 and women who made the headlines, we decided to share a year-ago-this-month with you.

In the first issue of '73 we reported the December 23 marriage of Vicki Harris and Blaine Perham plus three engagements of local couples.

ON JANUARY 10 we noted the election of Agnes Cook to the presidency of St. Anthony's Altar Society as well as three more engagements.

Patti Wojtowicz, Belleville's Junior Miss, made the front page by reaching the semi-finals in the regional judging for the Michigan Junior Miss of 1973 contest.

The Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club reported on its December meeting when it again honored the MIA-ME Sewing Club—a group which had sewn clothing for the BPW's Christmas gifts to the needy for 25 years.

The John M. Wahl Women's Relief Corps was in the news having presented American flags to Van Buren Township and its fire department.

ON THE 17TH the golden wedding anniversary of the Clarence Bohls was announced—the couple marking the January event while wintering in Melbourne, Florida.

Leslie Wood became Mrs. Greg Nelson in a December 22 ceremony in Romulus with Janet Warrow exchanging vows with Edwin Pichan two days earlier in Wyandotte. Others tying the knot were Cheryl Feitel and Gary Bozak, and Vicki Block and Gary Paris, both weddings solemnized on the 16th.

Six couples decided to make plans for future weddings with three others repeating their vows in Belleville, Detroit and Flat Rock. Elaine Cox became Mrs. Philip Gram; Diane Fritz was the new Mrs. Anthony Villa and Irene Baenziger took the title of Mrs. Douglas Arnold.

THE FINAL ISSUE for the month featured a number of shots taken at the gala dinner-dance sponsored by St. Anthony's Men's Club. The club welcomed some 200 guests to its annual post-holiday party.

Eight young women announced their betrothals and pending weddings with Mary Lynn Nicks the lone bride for the week. Her marriage to David Ke Chaing Tae in Ladue, Missouri was included with other Suburban Living news items.

More next month!

Shopper's tip

Here's a tip to help you become a smarter meat shopper. When buying beef for meals compare price per serving rather than price per pound. Some boneless cuts are better buys because they have little waste, and it's price per edible serving that really counts. Get to know the many beef cuts available and consider all of them.

Sandwiches provide hot supper or snack

Not all the family always eats together nowadays. Often schedules don't jibe and mom becomes a short order cook, much to her dismay. Or if she's the family member that must be somewhere else, it may mean a cold meal for the children and even for dad.

Yet a hot meal is important, especially in chilly weather. A solution for lunch or supper is satisfying made-ahead sandwiches that can be heated all at once or individually upon demand.

Meat in the sandwiches provides not only flavor, but the protein, iron and B vitamins that the family needs.

Barbecued Beefburgers

2 pounds ground beef
2 medium-sized onions, chopped
1 medium-sized green pepper, chopped
1 can (15 ounces) tomato sauce
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
8 hamburger buns
Lightly brown ground beef, onion and green pepper. Pour off drippings. Add tomato sauce, mustard, brown sugar, Worcestershire sauce and salt to meat mixture, combining thoroughly. Bring to boil, reduce heat and cook over low heat 20 to 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Spoon barbecue mixture on bottom halves of buns, cover with bun tops and serve at once. Or filled buns can be individually wrapped in foil and heated in 300 degree F. oven, 8 servings.

Ham-Cheese Bunwiches

2 cups cubed ham (1/4 to 1/2-inch cubes)

4 ounces Cheddar cheese, cut in 1/4 to 1/2-inch cubes
1/2 cup raisins
2 tablespoons pickle relish
1/4 cup mayonnaise
8 hamburger buns
Combine meat, cheese, raisins, pickle relish and mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing. Place one-third cup of mixture on bottom half of each bun and place on cookie sheet. Place top halves of buns on meat mixture. Cover tightly with foil and bake in a 400 degree F. oven for 10 to 15 minutes, depending on whether sandwiches were stored in refrigerator before being placed in oven. Serve warm. Filled buns can be individually wrapped in foil, stored in refrigerator and baked later, 8 servings.

Cheese Hashburgers

1 can (15 1/2 ounces) corned beef hash
one-third cup catsup
2 tablespoons pickle relish
1/4 teaspoon oregano
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
4 hamburger buns
8 slices Cheddar cheese
Combine corned beef hash, catsup, pickle relish, oregano and mustard. Split buns in half and toast slightly. Spread hash mixture on buns evenly, covering the toasted surface completely. Broil 3 to 5 inches from the heat 6 to 8 minutes or until mixture is heated through. Place a slice of Cheddar cheese on top of meat mixture on each bun and broil 2 to 3 minutes or until cheese is melted, 8 servings.

Police seek 3 bandits

Three men who held up the Belleville branch of the Wayne Federal Savings and Loan Association on Dec. 28 and escaped with an estimated $3,500 are the subject of a city and county-wide search by both FBI agents and Belleville police.

The men are described as Negroes in their late 20s, who entered the facility on Friday night.

One of the men handed a teller a note, stating that they were armed and ordering her to hand over the money, said Belleville Police Chief Clayton (Mickie) McLaughlin.

Witnesses reported to police that only one gun, a blue steel revolver was seen during the robbery.

McLAUGHLIN said the trio fled in an "older model black Chrysler Imperial with a loud muffler."

The car was last seen heading north on Liberty Street toward the I-94 expressway, according to police.

According to witnesses at the bank:

—the first suspect was about six-feet, two-inches tall and wore a green park and red gloves.

—THE SECOND suspect was about six-feet tall, medium build with a light complexion. He has a mustache and a short Afro haircut. He was wearing a red nylon suit.

—the third suspect also was about six-feet tall, medium build with short hair. He was wearing a long maroon jacket.

All three were wearing dark rimless sunglasses, police said.

Effort earns thanks

It seems that at times police departments receive an overabundant amount of criticism for their actions, but for Belleville police one area resident found their "extra effort" a pleasure on New Year's Eve.

Don Pounds, the owner of Don and Carol's Party Store on Main Street in Belleville, has called the local constabulary to say thanks for the great protection rendered during his store hours that night.

According to Pounds, the police maintained posts near or across from his store during lulls in their patrolling and personally escorted him to the bank, so he could make his night deposit without any problems.

Pounds said he has received good protection during the 11 months he has owned the store, but added that "they were really on the ball" on New Year's Eve.

"I'm just a businessman, but I want them to know that I appreciate their service," he said before calling in his compliments to the Belleville police chief.

Church sponsors program

An evangelist for more than 20 years Dr. Jim Mercer of Pontiac will be the principal speaker during a week of special services at the Grace Baptist Church in Belleville.

The special program will begin at 7 p.m. Sunday. Mercer's ministry has taken him to more than 40 states and most of the Provinces of Canada in both city-wide evangelistic crusades and single church meetings.

A native of Hosford, Fla., Mercer joined the ministry at the age of 21. He attended Bob Jones University in Greenville, S.C., where he received his doctor of divinity for "outstanding work in the field of evangelism."

He is the founder and co-director of the daily "Radio Revival," which has been broadcasted in the Detroit area for more than 10 years. For eight years he preached on the network show, "The Voice of Revival," originating in Minneapolis, Minn.

Club meeting set for tonight

The Belleville Women's Study Club is holding its regular meeting at 8 p.m. tonight in the clubhouse of the Knob on the Lake Apartment complex on Denton Road in Van Buren Township.

Record shines in D.C.

Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District) said that the 93rd Congress compiled an impressive legislative record during 1973, despite an almost complete lack of leadership from an administration bogged down in Watergate and related scandals.

"As the White House leadership waned, however, Congress took the initiative in a number of vital areas — energy, pension reform, manpower programs, the economy and budget control," Ford said.

"The energy crisis typified the lack of White House leadership," he added. "The President sent Congress five different energy messages, but failed to offer any definite legislative proposals."

CONGRESS THEN drafted its own energy bill, only to see it killed in the closing hours of the session after the White House and the oil lobbyists teamed up to gut its most important provisions.

"This last-minute lobbying swung enough votes in the Senate to kill sections prohibiting windfall profits, giving Congress some checks on Presidential gasoline rationing authority, and requiring oil companies to disclose their reserves."

"I joined with a majority of the House (228-35) in refusing to approve the watered-down bill, and we will resume the battle again when Congress reconvenes on Jan. 21."

In other areas, Ford said, Congress made solid achievements in:

— Pension reform, where with no leadership from an indifferent administration, the House of Representatives has drafted a bill, which would provide better funding, insurance and vesting rights for workers' pensions.

Panax appoints manager

A Veteran newspaperman, Martin N. Heim, has been named general manager of The Dearborn Press. Panax Corp. purchased The Press last month and assumed management Jan. 2.

Heim, 41, joined Panax in 1965 as advertising manager of the Alma Record. In 1966 he assumed the responsibility as general manager for the newspaper. Two years later he was given additional duties as general manager of the Mt. Pleasant Daily Times-News, and in 1969 he was named regional manager for Panax Central Division, a post he held until November, 1972 when he became general manager of The Macomb Daily in Mt. Clemens.

In eight years with Panax Corp., Heim converted the Alma newspaper to one of the state's first total circulation publications and in 1968 increased the frequency from weekly to daily. A Panax spokesman said, Heim-managed newspapers have been consistent award winners in typography, advertising, and editorial excellence.

Prior to joining Panax, Heim was a co-owner in newspapers in Vassar, Caro, and Lapeer, Mich. A U.S. Navy veteran, he graduated from Almont High School and attended Michigan State University where he majored in journalism.

Heim is a member of The Society of Professional Journalists, Sigma Delta Chi, AdCraft Club of Detroit, and the Michigan Outdoor Writers Association.

Heim and his wife Delores plan to relocate in Dearborn. They have two daughters.

Plans set for supper and fair

The Parent-Teacher Organization of the Haggerty Road Elementary School in Belleville is sponsoring a pancake supper from 5 to 7 p.m. Jan. 17 in the multi-purpose room of the school. A book fair is being held in conjunction with the supper and will be open during school hours on Jan. 15 to 17 in the school's library.

The pancake supper will cost $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for children, 12 years-of-age and under.

On the skids? Driving is 'forgiving'

"Forgiving" is an important concept of winter driving safety, according to Romulus Police Chief Jacob J. Koch. He said that the term "forgiving" is used in teaching high performance driving of police officers to describe a driving situation in which a driver error can occur without disastrous results. "Most drivers make many small errors in judgement and driving technique without suffering dire consequences," Koch said. "But unfortunately, in many winter driving situations, even a slight error in judgement or operating technique, compounded by road and weather conditions, can not be forgiven" - and the result is an accident.

"FOR INSTANCE, a busy, icy stretch of highway is no place to let your car get into a rear-end skid," he said. "Slippery pavement is, indeed, very 'unforgiving.' To help drivers avoid some of the most common winter driving errors, the chief offered some of the recommendations, resulting from the National Safety Council's annual winter driving test program. Some of the recommendations are: —getting the "feel" of the road, essential because of the wide variety of winter pavement conditions. Sometimes a road especially after dark appears to be bare, but may actually be coated with a thin, treacherous layer of frost.

Even when roads are plainly ice or snow-covered, slipperiness can change with temperature and traffic conditions. Road surfaces may be "felt" by carefully trying the brakes or by accelerating to see if tires slip or spin. —FOLLOWING AT a safe distance. The usual rule-of-thumb recommends a distance of one car-length for each 10 miles per hour of speed. On slippery roads the distance should increase appreciably to allow for longer braking distances.

—pumping brakes. Jamming on the brakes can lock the wheels, producing a skid. Expert drivers in the winter skid tests of the have demonstrated that a rapid pumping application of brakes maintains steering control and helps prevent skids.

—having good tires. With plenty of tread and properly inflated. Snow tires are helpful in certain winter conditions, such as in loosely packed snow where they provide half again as much pulling ability as regular highway tires, according to the Committee's tests.

Studded snow tires provide additional help on icy surfaces, where they can reduce braking distances by 19 percent and produce about three times the pulling ability of regular tires.

—CARRYING TIRE chains for severe conditions. Reinforced tire chains are at their best in cutting braking distances on ice in half and providing from four to seven times the pulling ability of regular tires in deep snow and glare ice.

—being sure you can see and be seen. Check out defrosters and windshield wipers to give yourself a chance to see. Wiper arm pressure is especially important in winter, when there may be heavy, wet slush to push aside.

ONE OF THOSE DAYS—It turned out to be one of those days for one driver, who found a new "slant" on driving. A few simple winter driving precautions may have spared him the "tilting" experience of sliding into a ditch on Hannan Road near Ecorse Road. Many of the local thoroughfares are sporting one or two of the unfortunate victims of winter's slippery roads. —Roman-Enterprise photo by Chief Photographer Lothar Konietzko.

STUDY ROAD-BRIDGE REMOVAL—Van Buren Township residents, especially those residing on Alden Drive, say that the old Haggerty Road bridge, a concrete culvert located east of Belleville Lake, presents a health and safety hazard. The old bridge was replaced three years ago by a new bridge about 150 yards west of it. Both the township and state highway department shared ownership of the old road and bridge. Officials are studying legal aspects relative to the removal of the road and bridge and the use of a three-acre land parcel nearby as a township park and boat launching ramp area. —Enterprise-Roman photo by Chief photographer Lothar Konietzko.

Among bar owners
Board halts license swaps

With numerous township officials attending this week's session of the Michigan Townships Association convention in Grand Rapids, the regular meeting of the Huron Township Board of Trustees was held a week earlier than scheduled.

At the meeting, board members passed a resolution, prohibiting the multiple transfer of liquor and entertainment licenses among bar owners in the township. The resolution was aimed at stopping the transfer of the entertainment license at Rossi's from owner Herman Rossi to Calvin Cruzen, who already has assumed ownership of Rossi's liquor license.

The board also approved the rezoning of property on Will-Carleton from agricultural to part mobile home.

BANK ON US

Wyandotte Savings Bank began way back in 1871. Our philosophy was simple and direct. To provide our customers with the best in banking services at fair and reasonable prices. To be honest and direct in our relationships with both customers and employees. And, hopefully, to make a profit for our stockholders.

That philosophy has worked well for us. Through five wars, two depressions and four generations, Wyandotte Savings Bank has lived by those principles.

Today, thanks to the people of the downriver area, Wyandotte Savings Bank has 14 offices and total resources of over $160,000,000.00.

If you're looking for a bank that is consistent and courteous in its dealings with people, one that you can trust to provide you with the latest in banking services, come to Wyandotte Savings Bank. We're dependable. You can bank on us. That means something in this day and age.

A WAYS TO GO — Van Buren Township's new K-mart Store has a ways to go before completion of construction in the township's new and largest business development, Lakewood Shopping Center. The center is located on the south bound service drive of the I-94 Expressway at Rawsonville Road. The new K-mart Store is one of two major stores in the new complex. The center's opening is slated for spring of this year. —Roman-Enterprise photo.

A fish story

DNR prints lake book

A new 80-page directory of Michigan's 2,500 mapped lakes has been printed by the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) to help the state's ice fishermen enter the charmed circle of experts.

According to DNR representatives, the book, "Michigan Mapped Lakes," contains hydrographic maps of the lakes, showing the various depths of each lake along with other information necessary for fishing.

With the hydrographic map of a lake fishermen will be able to determine the general contour of the lake's bottom and its exact depth at any given point along with the kind and condition of the lake bottom, eliminating such problems as cutting through a foot of ice to find six inches of water. It includes a wealth of other information on a fish's vision; a complete listing of Michigan campgrounds, both private and public; a fish identification guide and information on lake seeding, the quantity and kind of trout used in the planting.

The publication is available by sending $1 to: Michigan Mapped Lakes, P.O. Box 2235, Lansing 48911. The price covers the cost of publishing, handling and mailing.

Building construction rises in Van Buren

Residential building in Van Buren Township took a sharp turn upward in December, according to a monthly report issued by the township's building department.

The department issued 48 building permits during the month for an estimated cost of $2,444,325. Residential permits totaled $19,747.

The jump in the December building report is due to the issuance of permits for 40 apartment units in the proposed Parkwood Apartment complex on Tyler Road between Haggerty and Morton Taylor roads, a department spokesman said.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

BY HAROLD REDISKE, DIRECTOR

January 1, after all, is just another calendar date. But voices and noises join in mixed emotions. It means gaiety and gladness, a partying time for some people. It is a parting time for others who exile or disengage themselves from the past. All on account of a calendar date.

Some people will ponder and be proud of what was done in the past. Others will think of things done and can not now be undone. Some will say they will change the ways of their days; they will try to live better by the Book...Others will try to live with a better pocketbook. All this too - on account of a calendar date.

The message Happy New Year is heard everywhere - on account of a calendar date. For ourselves, we simply and sincerely say to all our friends who read this - "May you be happy... May God Bless you" - on EACH and EVERY calendar date...
